McGillivray Co. Making Extensive Changes in Tipple Equipment--Scrapping Present Plant

Seven Box-Cars of Machinery from England Already Unloaded--New Cleaning Plant First of Its Type in Canadian Coal Mining Industry--Will Result in Increased Efficiency in Eliminating Removable Impurities from Steam Coal

WORK has commenced on tipple changes at the plant of McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Co. Ltd. The dry cleaning plant, installed by this company in 1926, comprising five air-cleaning tables with accompanying screens, fans, dust collectors, etc., are all being scrapped in favor of a wet washing jig, known as the "Baum" washer, the first of its type to be installed in Canada.

The new jig washbox will handle all coal from 4" to 14", and will automatically extract rock and other impurities from the coal, to reduce the ash content to a pre-determined percentage.

The industrial power market, at one time considered an exclusive field for bituminous coal, has in recent years been invaded by other fuels, particularly very low priced lignitic slack, which has captured a large share of the above mentioned market. The use of this lower grade fuel has been made possible by the introduction of specially designed furnaces. Cheap oil fuel and gas have also formed serious competitors with which steam coal operators have had to contend; making it more and more necessary for those properties mining steam coal to put their product on the market as free as possible from removable impurities.

Since the lignite mines have invaded the steam coal markets, it may be that in the very near future the steam coal mines will have to seriously consider some method of carbonizing or coking their slack coals, so that they can compete in the lump and sized coal markets now supplied by sub bituminous and lignite coals.

Great advances have been made in the past few years in Europe, in the development of special type coke ovens, for the production of domestic or open grate coals; these developments being brought about by similar conditions to those now prevailing in the Crow's Nest Pass, namely, the invasion of steam coal markets by substitute fuels. Experiments along these lines are being closely followed by the steam coal mines of the district, and any development in this direction would, of course, call for the coal to be thoroughly cleaned before any further processing.

Mining machinery seems to become obsolete more quickly than any other type of machinery, and as a consequence mining companies have to be continually scrapping machinery, and replacing it with machinery of a more modern type.

Some interest has been shown in the recent discovery of gold on the northern shores of Lake Athabasca in the northern part of the province. A considerable number of claims have been filed, but not sufficient information is forthcoming as yet definitely to establish the extent and value of the discovery.

What Do You Think?

It has been suggested that the local Elk lodge and the Community hall committee co-operate in staging an indoor carnival, with a drawing of an automobile for the grand prize. The proceeds would be divided, the hall committee's share to be used in improvements to the hall. Here is a good way to get together and put over a worth while project.

British-Israel Truth Is Subject of Interesting Address in Parish Hall

J. V. Rewers of Fernie Describes Results of Mathematical Research and Historical Study of Egyptian Pyramids

On Tuesday evening in St. Alban's hall Mr. R. V. Rewers of Fernie addressed an audience on British Israel Truth. D. Hoyle was chairman in place of J. W. Gresham, who was indisposed, and on the platform were Rev. A. S. Partington and Rev. Roy Taylor of the United Church.

Mr. Rewers gave a very interesting and instructive address of about 2 1/2 hours, explaining the mathematical measurements of the pyramids corresponding to the history of the world, proving from Scripture in the light of current history that the Anglo Saxon people are the ancient Israelites.

An organization has been started in Coleman with W. Antrobus as president; R. H. Holmes as vice-president; Rev. A. S. Partington, secretary. Regular meetings for the study of British-Israel Truth will be held, and it is likely that outstanding men will come during (Continued on Page Eight)

A Humane Act

Pussy Was Up the Pole

LAST Friday a cat was noticed perched on top of a 80 foot pole opposite the International Co. offices by Walter Purvis. Thinking it might back down during the day, he took no steps to rescue it from its perilous perch till evening. Approaching a city official to get the fire department to do a good turn for a dumb animal in distress, the only reply was: "Well, the blanket cat got up there itself, let it get down the same way." The Journal staff hunted for a ladder but could not find one of the desired length. Les Emmerson was telephoned to come over with his climbing spikes, but in the meantime Mr. Purvis discovered a painter's ladder sufficiently high to reach the pole top. Two little boys volunteered to ascend whose names were not discovered, and the older one after gentle persuasion on the cat that he was trying to Star Headliners Booked for Wrestling Program in Community Hall Mon.

Chief Littlewolf and Hynie Olson Will Battle for Best Two of Three Falls

Frank Barringham is determined to put Coleman on the sport map for wrestling and boxing, and is bringing in two star headliners for the main bout on Monday next.

Chief Littlewolf, 204 lbs., the Indian wrestler, will wrestle Hynie Olson, of Vancouver, Wash., 198 lbs. They are also billed to meet in the Majestic theatre, Lethbridge, two days later.

The semi final will see Don Ferguson of Hamilton against Wildcat Johnson of Dallas, and this should give the fans a good bout in addition to the main bout. Both were in action here on Oct. 8, though not matched against each other. Admission has been cut to 75c for ringside, which may be reserved, 50c general and 25c for ladies and juniors.

Bride is Grand-daughter of First Mayor of Lethbridge

Announcement of the wedding of Mr. Wyndham Jones and Miss Ardel McNabb in United Church, Macleod, on Oct. 7, was received with interest by their friends in Coleman and Lethbridge. Mr. Jones has lived here for about 13 years, having been with McGillivray Co. for ten years, and for a couple of years was at Calgary Technical Institute, later being employed by International Co. To make life more interesting, he made a trip to his old home in Wales after leaving the "Tech."

His wife, it is interesting to note, is a grand daughter of the first mayor of Lethbridge, Thomas McNabb, who died some years ago, followed by Miss McNabb's death two years ago.

They take up residence in Coleman with hearty good wishes of a large circle of friends.

Dan Morrison Passes On

For many years a blacksmith at International Coal Co. machine shop, Dan Morrison resigned in June and went to live at Drumheller, where his brother Malcolm and family reside. He had been in poor health and the news of his death came to Mrs. Alex Easton on Monday. The funeral was held at Drumheller on Wednesday afternoon, service being in the United Church.

Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Easton, Mrs. J. L. Lonsbury and Mrs. Harold Turner. Mr. Morrison was a native of Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, and came west to Morrissey, B. C., in 1902. Later he came to International Co. and since 1904 has worked almost steadily with that company.

He was a familiar figure around town, and though in later years he became very deaf, he kept himself widely posted on all current events and the day's news. Many old acquaintances will hear of his passing with regret.

Pearson's brothers brass quartet announced to take part in the musical festival are former Colemanites. One of them was leader of the band here several years ago.

New Type Lamps International Mine

THE JOURNAL has to offer an explanation--almost, we were going to say, eat our words or humble ourselves in the dust before our vast army of readers at home and abroad.

Last week it published a story that McGillivray mine was the first to equip ALL underground workers with the late-4 improved type Edison electric lamp. It still maintains it was correct but it omitted to state that other mines in the district also had a number of these lamps in use. After the story appeared in print, The Journal learned that International Co. had also equipped part of its underground force with the new powerful type, spending about $5,000 in purchasing same, and it is reported that several other mines have a number in use. The point of the story as published was that ALL underground men in McGillivray were so equipped.

The interesting thing about the story was the rapidity with which the oversight was called to The Journal's attention. Even the newsboys who deliver The Journal were told about it, for Billy Naylor came back to the office and said, "Hi Mr. Editor, you made a mistake. Some of those International men say they have new lamps too."

It recalls a humorous incident of the trenches. The Germans stuck up a board bearing the words "Gott Mitt Uns," meaning in English "God with Us." Not to be outdone, the English Tommies stuck up a board on their parapet with the reply -- "We've Got Mittens Too."

However, it is pleasing to know that the new lamps aroused keen interest, and that there is a lot more light in dark places.

MISCELLANEOUS

Expressions of appreciation are heard on the footpath between town and West Coleman. A pedestrian now feels much safer than when he had to walk on the highway or railroad track. Someone remarked it was a wonder it was never done before, but the action of the C.P.R. in closing their track to pedestrians made it necessary for provision to be made for public safety.

J. S. D'Appolonia's house on Second street presents an imposing appearance, with its baronial wall around the lot. Reminds one of the saying that "every man's home is his castle." Another improvement further west on Second street is the renovation of some buildings which now appear to be a miniature apartment block.

Lessons Of The Depression

Perhaps the wish is father to the thought but it is quite evident that, in steadily increasing degree, people are expressing the view that the depression which has hung over the world like a fog for the past five years is lifting, slowly perhaps but nevertheless surely, and that gleams of sunlight are seeping through for the encouragement of mankind and the restoration of confidence.

In support of this view statistics are quoted of increased business, rising prices, more employment, increased revenues for the railways, rising national revenues. Betterments of this kind are noted, not in one but in many countries, and from many quarters come reports that there is a growing tendency on the part of people with money to invest to again proceed to do so.

Whether this more optimistic viewpoint is justified we are not in a position to say, and it is just possible that the statistical betterment noted is the result of the injection of artificial stimulants into the arteries of business by governmental bodies, rather than the outcome of a natural and more substantial improvement in conditions. Whatever may be the underlying cause of this slowly returning confidence, it is undeniable that it exists, and people believe that the tide waters which have been running so strongly in an adverse direction for so long have passed the peak and are now beginning to flow in an opposite and more favorable direction.

Coupled with this, there is recognition in Western Canada that, while such betterments may be seen in other parts of the country and the world, there can be no marked improvement throughout this section of the Dominion until it is blessed with more favorable and normal climatic conditions, resulting in some profitable return to our agricultural population for the continuous labor they have expended. Unemployment has not been the curse of the vast majority of Western people. They have worked long and arduous hours, 365 days in the year, but Nature in an unkind mood for some years past has denied to our working farmers any profitable return from their labor; in fact, in thousands of cases no return at all. Loss has been added to loss, and the cumulative effect has been to throw tens of thousands of other people out of employment because there was no work to be had. Such climatic conditions will not permanently continue.

Possibly one of the best indications that the depression is passing is that people are beginning to take note of the lessons which it has taught. Some of these are of a purely material and practical kind. For instance, and despite a certain school of thought which urges that man should plan his activities from year to year, and, as nearly as possible, balance production with consumption, there is a growing recognition of the wisdom displayed in Egypt in the days of the Pharaohs when under the guidance of Joseph they laid by and accumulated reserves in the years of plenty to carry them through the lean years. It is more and more coming to be accepted as a truism that in Western Canada we must do likewise.

But above and beyond the material lessons taught by the depression—lessons, it is to be hoped, that have been well learned by many—there are moral, ethical, spiritual lessons, the importance and significance of which will, it is also to be hoped, leave a lasting impression.

Ritchie, the famous prize-fighter, is reported to have once said that he never knew how good he was until he got his first licking. Many of us have taken a pretty severe licking in different ways during the past five years. It sometimes does a man good to be thoroughly flogged. It may call up reserves of energy that he never realized were his. And this seems to be ought to be, to the credit side of the depression. Adversity brings out the strength of character of men and women, or the lack of it. Seemingly strong men have gone down and gone under; others have displayed an initiative and developed traits of character and strength which even they did not know they possessed.

Assuming that the fog of the depression is lifting, and that we are again slowly emerging into the sunlight of more prosperous times, now is a good time to take stock of what the depression has actually done to us and taught us as individuals and as a nation. If we correctly size ourselves up as individuals, and profit by our inventory of ourselves, the nation will be better, stronger, more enduring. If this, then, is a time for re-examination, let us balance sheets of character, of habits, of motives, as well as, and even more important in the final analysis than balance sheets of money, stocks, bonds and chattels.

"I have just taken a real inventory," said a man who has had his full share of business breaks. "I've thrown out a lot of stuff I used to carry as assets. For instance, I carried on my payroll a lot of useless luxuries that were called 'friends.' When I could no longer manage the upkeep any longer, I let them go. Then I found out that they had been standing in front of people that really were friends. I'd been spending time and money on people that didn't mean a thing to me, and neglecting those who did. Now I see a few special people often, and have a better time with them. I think, on the whole, I've come through the depression pretty well. The cash value of my estate has shrunk considerably, but that's balanced by a big increase in what can't be measured by any yardstick of dollars and cents. The result is, my net worth is greater. There's a good side to going broke."

How many people have been wasting time, money and energy upon things that really do not count, and neglecting those that are worthwhile and make life what it ought to be and was intended by an all-wise Creator to be.

Has the depression taught you who reads this any lessons? Are you a better man or woman because of the depression, or have you revealed weaknesses of character and slipped? Are you now showing determination to profit by the lessons learned. If so, with all its worries and difficulties and even sufferings, the depression may be turned to good account. It's up to you.

Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic Cramps and Stomach Pains

Prompt treatment with Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in such cases relieves the pains, checks the looseness of the bowels, and thus does away with the suffering, the weakness, and oftentimes the collapse associated with attacks of this kind.

It does this by checking the too frequent and irritating stools, settling the stomach, and bracing up the weakened system, thus making it a remedy for the treatment of bowel complaints of both young and old.

Old Ship Scuttled
Ottago Was Once Commanded By Conrad The Novelist

Sixty-three years ago a small sailing ship of 348 tons, the Ottago, left Liverpool for Port Chalmers, New Zealand. She did the voyage in the shortest record time of 85 days, and many were the yarns told of her, both in the town and at her destination.

Now she has been taken out to sea for the last time and scuttled. It just did not pay to break her up. But her past was a tale of her own. She was once the command of Joseph Conrad, novelist, and later he made references to her in his books—"The Mirror of the Sea," "Falk," and "The Shadow Line."

Built in 1869, she put up some fine performances. Once she sailed 306 miles in 24 hours. Her last days were spent as a coal hulk in Hobart, Tasmania, a battered but proud vessel.

Glaciers Move Backwards

Unusual Happening In Switzerland Explained By Scientists

No fewer than 81 of 100 glaciers in Switzerland which have been under observation by the Society of Natural Sciences are reported to be moving backwards. Of the remainder, 15 are moving forward and four are standing still. The scientists say that the 81 glaciers are moving backwards because they are melting more quickly at their "ends" than they are being pushed forward.

Siren Warns About Tides

Quicksands In France Traps For Feet Of Uuway

Mont Saint-Michel, most photographed French landmark, is to be provided with sirens against the peril of the sea.

Debate on the advisability of protecting strollers along the quicksands, incidentally, has led to the discovery that there is no such thing as being swallowed up by these strange bogs.

Many an ancient Breton mariner, it was revealed, has been caught in quicksands and survived. The question is one of time. Rarely is a man sucked down to above the waistline, because the subsoil is firm at that level, but many have been caught at a time when the tide was coming in and drowned.

The danger is that of drowning when the tide comes up from seemingly nowhere filling the vast reaches of sand with furious torrents and treacherous eddies.

Victims more often than not are visitors who start out for the historic island of Tombelaine, and fooled by their calculations of distance and time into being trapped by the tides.

Some, of course, are caught in quicksands and are unable to free themselves before the tide gets up to their chests. Seized with panic even if caught only up to their knees, they struggle frantically, and although it is not true that they sink into the sand, it is true that their methodless struggles prevent them from getting free.

A siren on the hill, it is argued, would warn these travelers to turn back in time. It is also proposed to erect concrete "islands" at various points for the protection of promenaders caught by the tide.

Walking For A Wager

Saskatchewan Youth Has Already Covered Two Thousand Miles

With about 2,000 miles behind him and about four times that far to go before he can collect a wager he made with the mayor of Waldeck, Sask., Ernest Wall, of Waldeck, started for Montreal, October 1.

Wall made a bet with his mayor that he could start with 10 cents in his pocket and walk 10,000 miles in one year. He set out from his home town July 6 and has walked ever since, travelling to Montreal across the prairies and the desolate north shore of Lake Superior. From Montreal he heads towards the maritime provinces.

To collect his winnings, the 21-year-old Saskatchewan youth must not travel on the same road twice. Nor must he hitch rides on freight trains. He must get the signature of the mayor of every city and town he visits and must obtain one signature for every mile he walks. He is not permitted to ask for aid or remuneration for services rendered, but can accept anything given voluntarily.

WHAT DOES YOUR HANDWRITING REVEAL?

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

(Editor's Note: These articles on Character from Handwriting have aroused enormous interest. Many readers are sending in specimens of their own handwriting for a personal analysis. If you want your handwriting analysed, see the announcement at the foot of this article.)

A Grapho-Analyst's mailbag is very interesting. It is a reflection of people's hopes and fears, worries and problems—it is a very mirror of life itself. And for each question, the Grapho-Analyst can supply an answer.

Hand writing shows so plainly the character of the writer. Grapho-analysis is an X-ray that cuts through the verbiage, and gets right down to the very nature of the writer.

A girl writes in tormented fashion, pleading for advice on how to deal with her mother and father. They are making life miserable for herself and mother, and threaten to do bodily harm if the latter do not do what they are told in regard to some money that the man owes. The writing of the father and brother shows a complete indifference, with a brutal will that sometimes gauges over into violence.

Another girl is having trouble with her boy friend. Is he to be trusted? There are many letters of this kind. And very often, we can give a reassuring answer. Sometimes, our answer will hurt—but the truth is what we are asking for.

A mother is very anxious to know the characteristics of her young daughters. And what talents they possess. In this way, she can encourage them along the lines in which they can most progress, and in which they will be happy.

Another mother is perplexed about her boy. He is the only child she has, and she does not understand him. Grapho-analysis reveals his hidden traits, and suggests a line for the mother to work along.

A young man from the West says his life has been miserable, and, try as he might, he cannot do anything right. His writing reveals the tremendous colour in his nature, and the need for greater control. He has a hard road to go before he can regain normalcy.

The letters show how many people are squaring pegs in round holes. Real talents wasted because the possessor is in a vacation totally unused to the work.

Opportunities lost, because people have not developed the essential qualities of will and determination. Grapho-analysis is very helpful. It reveals not only the major characteristics, but also those hidden tendencies that are gradually looming up, and will, ere long, affect one's mode of life. If they are strong points, they can be developed. Often, they are potential weaknesses, and need curing. Grapho-analysis shows the way.

What does your handwriting show? Let a skilled Grapho-Analyst tell you the secrets that your writing reveals. You will be surprised at the revelations. Find out the true character of your friends. Send specimens of the writing you want analysed, and enclose 10c coin for cash. Enclose strictly stamped, addressed envelope, to: Lawrence Hibbert, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, Man. Letters are confidential and will be answered as soon as possible, but please allow at least two weeks for your reply.

Dominion Government Revenues Far Ahead Of Same Period Last Year

Ottawa.—With the halfway mark in the fiscal year 1934-35 passed, revenues of the Dominion government are so far ahead of last year that the administration's financial worries are beginning to assume much less menacing proportions. The department of national revenue collected $20,000,000 more in the first half of the present year than it did in the same period a year ago.

Except for income tax and excise tax receipts, all forms of revenue were higher in the month of September than a year ago and the total receipts were higher. Over the six months period all forms of revenue showed increases.

The largest increase in September was a jump of nearly a million dollars in receipts from excise duties and for the half year the largest increase was in customs duties, which produced some $8,500,000 more than in the same period a year ago.

Customs and excise revenues for the month of September with figures for September, 1933, in brackets follow:

Customs duties net $5,773,848 ($5,403,519); excise taxes net $9,161,905 ($8,958,584); excise duties net $4,102,387 ($3,135,187). Sundry collections net $58,861 ($53,956). Net totals, $19,097,003 ($18,451,244). Income tax receipts for the six-month period were: 1934-35, $47,301,458; 1933-34, $46,462,524.

Increases in both exports and imports in September this year compared with last year and substantial gains in the same figures for the first six months of the present fiscal year are shown in a statement issued by the department of national revenue.

Total exports from Canada last month were valued at $58,135,136 compared with $57,784,804 in September, 1933. Imports for domestic consumption totalled $41,933,203 compared with $38,698,416 in the same month a year ago.

Declares War On Racketeers

Ontario Government Will Protect People Against Improper Financial Practices

Toronto.—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn declared his Ontario government would "wage war without quarter through its securities commission on financial racketeers and all persons engaging in improper financial practices."

The premier made the statement following a meeting of the cabinet. "To this end new regulations were passed to strengthen the arm of Securities Commissioner Godfrey and to place his commission on a self-supporting basis," the premier said in a long statement.

All War Veterans Montreal.—Because every member of the present German government from Hitler down served in the trenches during the war, no European country is more desirous of peace at present than Germany. Ludwig Kempf, German consul-general, said on his return to Montreal from his first trip to the fatherland in eight years.

Greater Service Promised Edmonton.—Under the proposed health insurance scheme for Alberta, more people will get hospital service and more nurses will be employed than at present, stated Hon. George Hoadley, minister of health, when addressing members of the Alberta Hospital Association and the Association of Registered Nurses in joint annual convention.

United States Will Export No Wheat On Account Of Short Crop

United States Will Export No Wheat On Account Of Short Crop

Washington.—United States farm administration officials said no plans were being made for exporting wheat from the United States this year in view of the short crop of 496,000,000 bushels forecast.

The only surplus wheat available will be the soft white variety grown in the Pacific northwest. Plans are now being made for selling approximately 15,000,000 bushels of this surplus to the federal surplus relief corporation for relief.

Officials declared that the total

Mining Town Growing

Jellicoe, Ontario, In Midst Of Real Estate Boom

Jellicoe, Ont.—A real estate boom has struck this taxless mining town as prospectors, geologists, miners and others rush to grab land and erect shelter against fast-approaching winter the real estate market is on the scene of Canada's newest gold scramble.

All along the Canadian National Railways' right-of-way from the station to what was until recently Jellicoe's only pretence at a hotel, hammers and saws resound as the town grows like a mushroom. Mining companies are constructing living and storage quarters at the mining company base, trying to finish them before the impending freeze-up.

Lots have been rented by the railway along the right-of-way and, beside the rusty sidings. Houses, shanties and new stores are being built. A new hotel-bunkhouse has been finished and all available sleeping space around its walls is rented, much of it permanently.

The problem of sleeping accommodation has been solved to some extent by arrival on one side of a tourist sleeping car in which the railway company rents berths at nightly rates of $1.50 for a lower and $1 for an upper.

Interest Rates Reduced

Savings Account Interest To Be Cut To Two Per Cent.

Ottawa.—Interest paid on savings deposits will be reduced to two per cent. as from Nov. 1, 1934, by all chartered banks in Canada, the Dominion government post office savings banks and the Ontario government savings office, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes announced.

A similar reduction will be made effective by all other banks on Dec. 1, and the minister estimated that a number of the important loan and trust companies in Ontario will reduce by one half of one per cent. the rate of interest which they at present pay on savings deposits, such reduction to be effective from Jan. 2.

On May 1, 1933, savings deposit interest rate was reduced by the chartered banks and similar institutions from three per cent. to two and one-half.

Want Increased Grant

Manitoba To Ask Federal Government For More Relief Funds

Winnipeg.—A request for an increase in the monthly grant of the Dominion government towards Manitoba relief costs will be made when the signed agreement between the province and the Dominion is returned to Ottawa.

An order-in-council was passed by the provincial government authorizing Hon. W. R. Clubb, minister of public works and labor, to sign the agreement, which will continue the Dominion's contribution to relief until March 31, 1935.

For Manitoba, the chief provision is a grant of $135,000 per month. Approximately $85,000 less than the amount received under the old agreement.

European Hatreds

Manifestations Occur Over Assassination Of King Alexander

Belgrade.—Smouldering hatred of Italy, touched off by King Alexander's assassination, flared at three places in Yugo-Slavia as the cabinet, which placed its resignation at the disposal of the new regency, was told to continue in office.

There was no sign of serious internal disorder. However, at Zagreb a jeering crowd smashed the windows of an Italian political club. Other anti-Italian manifestations occurred at Sarajevo, the city in which Archduke Franz Ferdinand's assassination set off the Great War, and at Ljubljana. At the latter point an Italian-owned store was reported destroyed.

Meanwhile, the national parliament, after taking an oath of loyalty to young King Peter II, decided the murdered king henceforth should be known as King Alexander I.

An employee of the Italian consulate was pummeled severely by crowds at Ljubljana that had just learned of Alexander's death.

Police interfered to protect the Italian as the crowd booed Italy derisively, and escorted him home. Dr. Ivan Marushnick, governor of Slovenia province, of which Ljubljana is the capital, said:

"Yugo-Slavia's relations with Italy are so delicate that our authorities would never permit for a moment any manifestations or unfriendly speeches toward our neighbor, Italy."

Young Peter's proclamation as king to replace his father was made by both houses of parliament sitting at a national assembly, in a scene of sadness and silence.

Followers Of Gandhi

Madeline Slade, Former Society Girl, Reaches New York On Mission

New York.—Madeline Slade, former English society girl, who nine years ago became "Mirabai," chief woman lieutenant of M. K. Gandhi, has arrived to "give Americans a clear conception of Gandhi."

She travelled third class on the Majestic, and said she regretted having been unable to use even more humble accommodations.

"Mirabai," daughter of a former admiral and oil magnate before she renounced social life to follow Gandhi, was dressed in homespun clothing, a man's coat, and cheap Indian sandals.

Miss Slade said she came on the invitation of the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, chairman of the American League for India's Freedom, for a lecture series.

People Living Longer

So Insurance Companies May Raise Annuity Rates

Chicago.—People are learning to live so long that annuity insurance premiums are likely to be higher in the future.

Arthur B. Wood, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, indicated that in an address before the American Life convention in which he warned that "if annuity premium rates are based on the assumption that recent past experiences will be repeated, they will probably prove insufficient."

He suggested that "to avoid incurring an ultimate loss, additional provision should be made for anticipated increase in longevity."

Czechs Fear For Ailing Leader

Dr. Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, the founder and only president of the Czechoslovakian republic, is said to be slowly ailing, and political observers believe he will not be able to serve much of his third successive term, to which he was elected several months ago. Now 84 years old, President Masaryk has watched his "young child" grow to manhood, with a powerful voice among European nations, and serve as the last outpost of democracy in dictatorship-ridden central Europe. He resides most of the time in his huge castle in the capital, Prague. Our pictures show the veteran leader, and a view of Prague.

King Confers Titles London.—The official gazette announced that the king had conferred upon Prince George the titles of Baron of Downpatrick, Earl of St. Andrews and Duke of Kent, in honor of his forthcoming marriage to Princess Marina of Greece.

Chinese Charged With Possession Of Opium

Two In Saskatoon Alleged To Have $5,000 Worth

Saskatoon.—War against narcotic peddlers, recently waged successfully in Montreal with the breaking of an important international dope ring, opened in Saskatchewan with the arrest of two Chinese merchants of Saskatoon in alleged possession of $5,000 worth of opium. With the arrests police believed they had secured the leaders of an important dope ring in the prairies. It was believed the largest seizure in the history of the province.

The arrests were made under the direction of Detective Sergeant J. Black, of Edmonton, in charge of the narcotics division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Alberta. Sergeant Black recently returned from Montreal where he participated in the breaking of the $1,000,000 ring led by Pincus Berchor, wealthy New Yorker, who committed suicide after his conviction.

Those arrested were D. Lom, alias Dai Kwok Lume, and Fred Hwa, who also is believed to have business connections in rural points.

Rise In Wheat Prices

Average Export Value Shows Sharp Increase

Ottawa.—The sharp rise in the export value of wheat in August, when it reached $12,868,000, was more than maintained in September, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. The quantity exported in September was 17,588,359 bushels and the value $15,323,000, about $8,500,000 more than a year ago.

The average export price in September was 87.1 cents as against 75.9 cents last year. During the first six months of the current fiscal year the export value was $68,937,000 compared with $60,279,000 last year, a gain of about $8,500,000, the bureau states.

Price Spreads Commission Will Continue Sitings On October 29, Says Report

Toronto.—The royal commission on price spreads and mass buying, under the chairmanship of Hon. H. H. Stevens, Dominion minister of trade and commerce, will resume Oct. 29, it was officially announced, says The Mail and Empire in a despatch from its Ottawa correspondent.

The probe will resume with an inquiry into Maritime fishing products, the Mail's correspondent says. The royal commission will also continue sittings upon questions considered but not concluded previously.

Details Of Amendments To Farm Loan Act Passed At Last Session

Ottawa.—Details of the amendments to the Canadian Farm Loan Act passed at the last session of parliament, in conjunction with the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, have been published by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes and distributed among those concerned. Under these amendments the board will be empowered to take second mortgages in satisfactory cases to enable the farmer to secure money to carry on his operations.

The explanatory statement says, in part:

While the Canadian Farm Loan Act has made provision for adequate rural mortgage loan facilities under normal conditions, under existing conditions the amount of the average mortgage loan available on the normal margin of security and on the basis of present-day values of farm lands has not proved sufficient to re-finance the overdue and pressing obligations of farmers incurred at higher price levels or incurred in the period of readjustment following the first severe drop in price levels and farm income.

The amendments to the Farm Loan Act have been consequently designed to make available to individual farmers larger mortgage loans on a consequently smaller than normal margin of security.

This has been done by empowering the board to make to farmers applying for loan not only an advance by way of loan restricted to a maximum of 50 per cent of the appraised value of his lands plus 20 per cent of the value of the buildings thereon on the security of a first mortgage thereon, but also a further and additional advance, if so required by the applicant, on the security of a second mortgage on the said real estate and on the security of a mortgage on his livestock and chattels up to a maximum of one-half of the amount of the first mortgage advance. The aggregate of the amounts advanced should not exceed two-thirds of the appraised value of the farm lands and the buildings thereon accepted as security for such loans, nor in any event more than $7,500.

The additional advances, which may be for convenience termed "second mortgage loans," are repayable on terms not exceeding a period of six years and carry interest at a rate not more than one per cent. in excess of the current rate of interest charged on first mortgage loans.

Society Woman Abducted

Wife Of Wealthy Kentucky Oil Man Is Kidnapped

Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, young society leader and wife of a wealthy oil man, was seized from her fashionable home by a kidnapper who left a note containing a demand for $50,000 ransom.

Beaten by the abductor, who gained entrance into the house on a pretext and left her maid bound and gagged, Mrs. Stoll was spirited away in an automobile.

Federal, city and county authorities immediately began a wide search. Mr. Stoll discovered the kidnapping when he returned home from the office late in the afternoon. There he found the maid bound hand and foot.

The maid said the abductor got into the house on the pretext of wanting to use the telephone. The maid was quoted as saying she "never saw a more fiendish-looking man."

As soon as he entered the house the man drew a pistol from his pocket and forced the maid to help him bind Mrs. Stoll's hands with tape. He was unusually rough, the maid said, and this was evidenced by traces of blood found on the floor.

The abductor was described as being between 30 and 35 years old, about five feet eight inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds, having black hair parted in the centre.

Mr. Stoll later issued a statement addressed to the kidnapper and asked that it be published:

"Berry Stoll has just found the note regarding the ransom and arrangements are being made accordingly."

He declined to make contents of the ransom note public but it was learned that in addition to demanding money it contained a threat that William A. Stoll, president of the Stoll Refining Company, was "next on the list." He is a brother of Berry Stoll, the vice-president, and is president of the Louisville Board of Trade. Stoll said the ransom note was found in an upstairs bedroom.

Horse Brings High Price

Brandon, Man.—Believed to be the highest price paid in Manitoba for a horse in years, "Jack," a three-year-old draft gelding Clydeade, was sold for $400 to A. Leslie of Watrous, Sask. Winner of the Manitoba grand championship, "Jack" will be exhibited at the Royal Winter Show in Toronto.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

A NUMBER of people entitled to vote at the last municipal election were disappointed when they were refused a ballot paper, because they had not registered in accordance with the Towns Act. It is not an act specifically made for Coleman, as many were under the impression, but it is a provincial law. To be sure of exercising your right, call at the town hall NOW. After Oct. 31 you'll be too late, and then you'll be regretting it next February.

"THE railway experiments of the past have left us with a publicly owned system which has a debt of no less than $2,895,799,134 as of Dec. 31, 1933. These are astronomical figures. They still tend to increase. By no ingenious method of book-keeping can they be reduced."

MR. BEATTY, president of the C.P.R., made this statement in an address in Vancouver on Sept. 4. He also added that the Royal Commission on Transportation reported that during the nine years 1923-1931 the Canadian National Railways failed by no less than $456,063,195 to earn the interest which the government of Canada was bound to pay to private capitalists who owned the securities of that system.

THE vast deficits are paid by the Canadian people, and it is high time that public opinion became so acquainted with the drain the C.N.R. is making on the country that they took heed of Mr. Beatty's advice, who suggests unification of the two systems for the purpose of effecting economies in operation. Otherwise, we will continue to pay—pay—pay—and keep on paying—that's if we are able to.

THE increasing number of automobile accidents emphasizes lack of qualifications on the part of many drivers. Actually there are people driving cars who in an emergency do not know what to do except everything but the right thing. A license to drive is not granted till the applicant has driven a stated number of miles, yet such applicants may drive on highways to gain their experience, endangering their own lives and others. The wonder is there are not more accidents, considering the inexperience and carelessness that is so prevalent. The highways are dangerous places, indeed. Again, some drive around towns as if life itself depended on getting there in record time. They are a menace to public safety. Can they be educated to regard human life as sacred?

KING Alexander, engaged in a herculean task of trying to unite Croats, Slovenes and Serbians in a kingdom, is killed by a terrorist assassin's bullets. Ruling with an almost iron hand, to the dislike of the Croats, old enemies of the Serbs, he suffers the same fate as Chancellor Dollfus.

UNEASY lies the head that wears a crown is truer than ever in European countries, and 11-year-old King Peter II. succeeds to a throne which is far from secure. Creature of circumstance in a succession of kingly honors, will he be as happy as these whose lots are cast in the humbler walks of life?

OGOPOGO, mythical aquatic inhabitant of Okanagan Lake, furnishes 'copy.' One imagines correspondents writing about it with tongues in their cheeks, and news editors receiving it in the same manner. Yes; its good publicity—for Okanagan Lake.

FRANK Graham sr. often pulled a good one on tourists dropping into his shop for a shave. If on their first visit to the mountains, they were curious for information. Frank, in a casual way, would start talking of side-hill hogs. Their ears would prick up and they would eagerly ask for more detail. Frank's pet yarn was that they were animals with the legs on one side of the body shorter than the other, so developed from stalking around the steep slopes of the mountains.

ROBBING the hand that feeds you is rotten business. Trade of all kinds in these "Crow" towns depends mostly on C.P.R. business, a significant factor that should be remembered by those who pass up the railroad for truck transportation of freight.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mr. Alex Cameron has returned from his sequestered life on the ranch at Wynndel to again enter the multitude activities of this metropolis of the Pass. He is looking better than ever, and time does not appear to change his vigor, energy and interest in things pertaining to Coleman. The Journal extends him a hearty welcome.

Mr. W. G. Guernsey, of the Federal forestry service of the United States, with Mrs. Guernsey, are here this week from Spokane on a visit with Mr. and Mrs. O. E. S. Whiteside. During their stay here they made a motor trip to Calgary. They are very favorably impressed with the scenery in this part of the Rockies.

THE TENDERFOOT

By
GEORGE B. RODNEY

Author of "The Coronado Trail,"
"The Canyon Trail," Etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward widest outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now, is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

(Now Go On With The Story)

This time Spike scoffed openly. It was no secret on any ranch in Seco Valley that Edith Carr, the red-headed, fiery-tempered daughter of the old owner of the Hour-glass, did exactly as she chose. So did her father. . . . In most things for the dominated even the dour old man whom most men feared. Edith was not red-headed for nothing and Dustin had discovered it once to his sorrow. When he and Spike had first fought up the loose scrip that gave them title to the Broken Spur, he had vaguely noted the red-headed unformed schoolgirl who occasionally went to the infrequent Valley dance. Then five years passed; she became the rage and he was suddenly aware that the unforgotten girl had developed almost overnight into the perfectly formed woman whom men openly coveted.

It was a full two years since Dustin saw her when his eyes were opened. She was coming out of the "off" office in Seco and he, about to enter, stood as though paralyzed at sight of her. Her gray eyes stared at him unseeing and her bright head was up as she passed and a couple of "dry farmers" giggled. Dustin flushed. He did not know nor would he have cared had he known that that very morning old Joe Carr had commended on his known command at a Mexican dance and on a household that he maintained in Sepulveda. Dustin raised his hat and stepped up to her.

"Aren't you going to say 'Good morning'?" he asked quickly.

"To you? Why? . . ." Edith stopped and looked at him as one might look at a mangy dog and that looked burned even Sam Dustin.

"I'd like to walk up the street with you," he suggested.

The loafers at the office-door did not hear his words but they saw him drop into step with her and they nudged each other. Then they saw her stop and draw herself up. There came no mistaking her words. They came with the whir and snap of a whip-lash.

"The street is open to the public, I believe," she said. "When I walk with anyone it will not be with a 'squeam' man."

That was all. Dustin, the big man of the Broken Spur, dropped back. His face was white with wrath and his lips were set. The men who saw it all never said a word about it till they got safely home but after that word spread. They watched him snatch his horse from the tie-rack and they preserved the silence of the damned till his horse was swallowed up in a dust-wreath. Then:

"I'm sure set fire to his shirt-tail," quoth old Styles. The others giggled uncomfortably. They knew Dustin fairly well.

Sam Dustin neither forgave nor forgot that incident and more than once he had planned revenge but no opportunity arose. The first time he met him he encountered marked Edith Carr as the only person in the Valley worth the time and patience to tame her and Dustin swore to himself that tamed she should some day be. Some day he would bring her to heel.

He had sense enough not to try to force his attentions on her. He knew old Joe Carr too well for that for the old man was one of the old breed that held their women-folk sacrosanct. The man must be better than ordinary to get his legs under old Joe Carr's table where the pretty Edith held sway. The war was the beginning of trouble for the Hour-glass ranch.

It was a big ranch. For miles its wire hung up into the hills and its broad ranges pastured many cattle. But hard luck dogged old Joe Carr's narrow heels. For he had a capital of nine dollars! Then to six . . . ! Then a bucking pony slammed him against a bucking-post in the corral and broke his leg in two places. The break healed imperfectly. It had to be broken twice and the pain and goit irritations were such that when every man was urgently needed, awoke the old fever that had never really subsided since Edith's mother was laid away in the little burying-ground under the great almos . . . cotton-woods. . . .

From day to day Edith stalked gallantly to stop that solitary drinking. She saw her father go into his office after supper; she saw the door close and she knew only too well what was taking place behind that closed door. Twice she tried to force an entry but each time she was repelled and the door was locked. Sick at heart, for she knew what the trouble was, she fled to old Frank Crewe, the foreman.

"Is there no way to make him stop?" she sobbed. "Oh, Frank! You know what it means! He's too good a man to go wrong at a time like this."

Crewe nodded. "He's too good a man to run off the straight at it," he said. "I've busted his bottles till the back-corn looks like a hankrupt glass foundation. Miss Edith, but I'll be damned if I can make him see sense. The size of the matter is that he's just plumb worryin' hisself into his bed and he's drinkin' to keep out of it. Darn him! He ought to know that with times like they are those two men Dustin and Goddard over at the Broken Spur are just settin' up at nights waitin' for a chance at him. If he aint darned careful they'll get it too."

They did get their chance and they knew well how to take advantage when it came their way. They both knew what was taking place at the Hour-glass. A drinking house means a careless bunk-house and any ranchman knows what that means. It spells disaster.

The result was not quick-moving. It came with the slow growth of an avalanche. The moves were slowly at first till sheer weight overcomes inertia. Then it becomes suddenly dangerous. That first slow danger showed first in a slight lessening of the number of calves branded. . . . Then a long line of fence broke down and no one discovered it till too late. Cattle strayed off the home ranges and if they calved at all, brought forth their young in hidden places where no one discovered them till too late. Then followed a gradual drop in the grade of the stock. . . . Any one could see it! And finally the open legal row over Soda Springs.

High Heaven alone knew why those pools were called Soda Springs. There were three of them; great jets of clear cold water that sprang from the wall of the upper valley and formed a deep pool at the end of the canon. In that great pool water-cress grew rankly and cattle stood knee-deep in the water under the great trees. Soda Springs was a constant and never failing source of water supply even in the long Dry Season when no rains fell. To the sick and injured Joe Carr the news came like a thunderclap that Dustin and Goddard had brought suit over the waters of those springs. No one had ever thought to question his ownership before Dustin raised it and Dustin would never have thought of it but for a word from a drunken "Nester" from whom he and Spike bought the "scrip" that gave them a questionable title to the Broken Spur. No one had ever been refused water-rights there in time of need. The Springs might as well have been on the Open Range.

But the days of the Open Range had passed and along with them went the old-time spirit of freemasonry that made all men free of water and grass at need. It remained for the Broken Spur to force old Joe Carr to defend his title to those Springs by fencing them and barring them to the public. It made him none too popular. Where old Joe had once been the Nestor of the cattle men in Seco Valley, he was likely to become their Termites, thanks to the machinations of Dustin and Goddard. He knew the cause of it all. He knew that drink added to the spirit of aggravation already aroused by Dustin and Goddard was making him unpopular where he had once been a favorite, but he could not give up. Finally, after silent because he had none to talk to, bitter with hate and wrath at his own inability to keep abreast of the times, he saw his ranch slipping into the cattle depression. It did not improve his temper to note the success of the Broken Spur.

FOR YOU, THE DAWN

For you the dawn with sunlight flooded,
The larks' notes falling from the sky,
The yellow roses newly mudded
And vinds as gentle as a sigh.

For you this strange, recurrent wonder,
This hour of promise and of peace,
This joy which breaks past bonds
With certain message of release.

For some the tranquil twilight hour,
For some high noon with gold and hue;
But yours this pearl and opal dawn,
Always the dawn, the dawn for you!

O, never dawn comes gleaming, breaking
Through somber night by land or sea,
Unless I feel your spirit waking,
For you are incarnate dawn to me!

For the first 37 weeks of 1934, ending September 13, the number of hogs graded in Canada was 2,085,489. In the corresponding period of 1933, the number was 2,210,675.

St. Paul's Cathedral

Saving Edifice From Encroachments
Of Modern Commercialism

Considerable progress has been made during recent weeks with a scheme for surrounding St. Paul's Cathedral with a "sacred area" within which no deep excavations would be allowed which might endanger the shallow foundations of the building.

Such a scheme was first proposed in 1912, but nothing much came of on behalf of the Cathedral authorities on behalf of the cathedral authorities, sent a letter to the Lord Mayor inquiring the corporation to help in protecting the cathedral.

The matter was referred to a special committee of the corporation, and they have been helped by a report on the subsoil and foundations of the cathedral, drawn up after over two years' investigation, by Sir Alexander Gibb and Mr. Ralph Freeman. The report was accompanied by a model showing the underground condition of the city from Bouverie Street (a turning off Fleet Street) to the Bank of England.

The special committee have recently been drafting a Bill in which it is hoped parliament will establish the controlled area. Though the details of the bill are not yet available, it is expected that it will be submitted to the House of Commons in November and become law next spring.

The editor of the journal of the Architects' Institute remarks that "the acceptance of this scheme, for which Canon Alexander has striven for many years, is of significance not only because of the specific protection afforded to St. Paul's Cathedral, but because it marks the establishment of the principle that a great work should be protected, if necessary by Act of Parliament, from the encroachment of modern commercialism."

Zeppelin For Exploration

Three Scientific Flights To Be Made
Next Year

The exploration of jungle, desert and icy territories, which used to be life or death adventures, have been more simplified by aerial transport and radio. There are still great tracts of the earth's surface where, as the Irishman said, "the hand of man has never set foot," and these are likely to be narrowed within the next few years.

When flying north from South America, Colonel Lindbergh reported passing over a jungle where there was evidence of ruined cities. Brazil and the republics around it are a particularly attractive field for the modern explorer. Many men have lost their lives walking through these desolate and fearsome places, meeting death through getting lost or perhaps some strange beasts.

Next year a brand new zeppelin will make three scientific flights over the region of the mighty Amazon and its tributaries, which should clear up some mysteries about that impenetrable area. This zeppelin will have a gyroscopic device that will enable it to hover over any spot and lower men and supplies in a gondola, so that they can make detailed research under observation from above.

The expedition will explore places which scientists believe to exist but have no accurate data upon, such as the Valley of Orchids, the lost city of Sincora and several other places, and will try to find tribes of Indians who are supposed to inhabit the jungles and have never been seen among civilized communities. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Little Helps For This Week

"Beloved thou doest faithfully whatsoever thou doest." 3 John 5.
"And this also we wish, even your perfection." 2 Corinthians 13:9.

In all the little things of life, Thyself Lord may I see:
In little and in great alike Reveal Thyself to me.
So shall my undivided life To Thee my God be given;
And all this earthly course below Be one dear path to heaven.
—H. Bonar.

In order to mould these into entire conformity with His will He must have these pliable in His hands, and this pliability is more quickly reached by yielding in the little things than even by the greater. Thy one great desire is to follow Him fully; cannot thou then say a continual "yes" to all His commands whether small or great, and trust Him to lead thee by the shortest road to fullest blessedness?

With weakness, humility, and diligence apply yourself to the duties of your condition. They are the seemingly little things which make no noise that give success.—Henry More.

Mrs. Norman McAuley of Star Creek ranch entertained a party of school teachers from the Pass towns on Saturday, and on Tuesday a number of ladies from Coleman were her guests for the afternoon and evening.

The Journal received this week renewal subscription from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, of Sugden, Alta. Since they moved from Coleman about six years ago, have been regular subscribers. It will be remembered that they lost a son, Tom, in the McGillivray explosion of November 1926.

An automobile driver at High River instead of going forward bucked his car into a restaurant, breaking through the plate glass window and shifting the soda fountain and show cases a few feet, doing damage to the extent of about $800 and badly damaging his car. He stepped on the gas instead of the brake.

Mrs. J. H. Peel, wife of the Metropolitan Life representative, left for Vancouver on Saturday to attend the funeral of her father, Timothy Riordan, who passed on at the age of 66. He retired from the C. P. R. service as roadmaster three years ago, after over 30 years with the company. Besides Mrs. Peel, his wife and two sons survive; Leo of Calgary and Emmett of Vancouver.

In a letter received by Mrs. T. Flynn recently from Mrs. E. F. Gare, she stated that Mr. Gare had been in poor health since visiting Coleman last summer. The family is now living in San Francisco, moving there from Cloverdale, B.C. where he lived for about a year. They had many friends in Coleman who regret to hear of Mr. Gare's poor health.
